YOUR HEALTH MATTERS!
 What is the largest organ in our body? Skin! Adults carry some 8lbs. and 20 square feet of it! Skin is our body's coat. It protects us. It helps us stay warm when it's cold and cool when it's hot. There are 19 million skin cells every inch of our bodies! Our body gets rid of 30,000-40,000 old skin cells per day! Our skin keeps all of our insides in, from our heart and lungs, to our blood and muscles and unless it's cut or damaged, it keeps stuff out, including germs and water. So let's not ignore when you get a cut no matter how small or large it may be and be kind to this precious and important part of our body.
 To your health,
 Angela Testani R.N.

STEWARDSHIP
 is the grateful response of a Christian disciple who recognizes, receives and cultivates
 God's gifts and generously shares these gifts in love of God and neighbor.

FAZtor's Notes:

By: Fr. Arnold Zamora

We have been celebrating special masses over the past week-ends. We had the Homebound Mass two Sundays ago, then we had the Spirit Mass last Sunday and now this Saturday is our Youth Mass. Youth Mass simply means that our Youth Group will be "running the show." They will take charge of doing the Readings, the collections and the music. Some of them might also be the altar servers and even helping in the distribution of Communion. Sr. Cristina, our pastoral associate, has really been pushing our youth to be more actively involved in the life of our church and especially in the celebration of the Eucharist or the mass which is the summit of the parish life. With Alejandra Brito, our parish youth coordinator, and our Youth ministry parents, Erin Grogan and Julie Quock, we have a wonderful team. I thank them for their dedication and hard work so we can have an active youth group in the parish.

After last week's commissioning of our school Eucharistic Ministers, this Sunday at the 9:30AM mass is the commissioning of our catechists for our Religious Education program. We thank these parishioners who volunteer and share their time, talent and treasure for the evangelization of our kids.

Thank you also to all those who took part in the preparation of the Spirit Mass. I was so cautious of the time during the mass that I have forgotten to acknowledge some people like: Sr. Cristina who prepared eleven of our 8th graders to become Extra-Ordinary Ministers of Holy Communion; Rose Tang, who was just out from the Hospital after having a procedure and still prepared the slides for the mass; George and Maureen Arriola who led our choir and our instrumentalists; Sofia Howard(4th Grade) our cantor and soloist; our Church Environment Committee led by Cres Payumo and Cecilia Bermudez, who made sure the decorations were suited for the occasion; seminarian Gerardo Vazquez who served as our Master of Ceremonies; and all those who have helped in some way, large or small.

Of course, I am reserving my biggest thank you to Fr. Simon Jin for concelebrating at the mass and for his dedicated service to Holy Name for the past five years. Fr. Simon has really been a great support to me, a wonderful companion in the house, and a good priest to the parish. Unfortunately, as the song goes, "some good things never last." Fr. Simon is moving to the Diocese of Oakland next month. He will continue his ministry in one of the parishes in Oakland and will also be working with the Chinese Ministry in our neighboring diocese.

I am sad and I'm sure all of us are sad about his departure, but we wish him all the best in his priestly ministry and may the Lord continue to guide him on the right path.

There is the Bay Bridge to cross for us to get to Oakland and visit Fr. Simon. But remember we have a Golden Bridge called "PRAYER" that links our lives together even though we walk on separate roads.

So today, like any other day, I lift to GOD all your wholeness, needs, fears, aspirations, intentions, wishes, concerns and endeavors. May HE sanctify the labor of your hands; grant you good health, peace of mind and heart, wisdom; and answer all your deepest prayers.

THE PRIESTS RETIREMENT FUND

Archdiocesan priests participate in the Social Security program, but because of the modest amount they earned during their many years of ministry, their monthly benefits are significantly smaller than those typically received by retired lay people. With gratitude, Catholics in the Archdiocese of San Francisco have acknowledged their responsibility to help our priests during their retirement. To that end, the Archdiocese of San Francisco established the Priests Retirement Fund.

At age 70, our retired priests begin receiving a monthly pension. These priests use this money for basic needs, such as food, housing and transportation. The fund also provides retired priests with health insurance and extended care expenses, if needed.

Please join in thanking the retired clergy of the Archdiocese of San Francisco with a gift to the Priests Retirement Fund Collection at Masses on September 22 and 23. Support of the Fund helps alleviate the financial burden of living, healthcare, and extended care expenses, and ensures that clergy and religious can spend retirement in continued engagement with their communities. The Priests Retirement Fund is an expression of gratitude to these men for a lifetime of ministry and service.

For more information, please contact the Office of Development at (415) 614-5582 or development@sfarch.org.

And don't forget the annual St. John Vianney Luncheon on October 26 in support of the Retirement Fund. Visit sfarchdiocese.org/PRFlunch.

A farmer named Muldoon lived alone in the Irish countryside except for a pet dog he doted on. The dog finally died, and Muldoon went to the parish priest, saying, "Father, the dog is dead. Could you possibly be saying a mass for the poor creature?" Father Kelly refused point blank, "No, we can't have services for an animal in the church, but I'll tell you what, there's a new denomination down the road, and there is no telling what they believe in, maybe they'll do something for the animal." Muldoon said, "I'll go right now. By the way, do you think 10,000 pounds is enough to donate for the service?" to which Father replied, "Now why didn't you tell me the dog was a Catholic!"

A cheap jibe regularly leveled at the Church is that while we preach about justice and development for all people, we are one of the world's wealthiest multinationals. Sometimes Catholics are stung by this criticism. There is something healthy about that because there is always more we can, and should, do about our detachment from materialism. At the same time, however, our accusers should be reminded of a few facts that spoil their good story.

In commercial terms the Church is asset rich and cash poor. Many established churches through good planning and generosity have a large plant on decent real estate, but I don't know a diocese, religious order, parish or Church agency that does not need to carefully look at its cash flow. We rely on your goodness to keep going each year. Our real estate is often our only collateral for our borrowing; always done to improve the services we can render the People of God.

The greatest thing going for the Catholic Church, however, is you, Christ's faithful people who witness day in and day out to the power of Jesus' life, death and resurrection. We are also asset rich in terms of the quality of the women and men—lay, professed and ordained—who selflessly serve the Church and the world.

When we are attacked for the land and buildings we have it's always good to remember some facts about our Catholic family's commitment to the poor: outside the United Nations and governments, Catholicism is the largest provider of education, health, welfare, personal assistance and Third World development in the world; we have the largest and lowest-paid charitable workforce of any international group; we have been trying to serve God, not money, for two thousand years; and from the earliest Christians to this very day, some Catholics have loved and served the poor so faithfully, that they die with them, and for them.

Where all of this is concerned, we are our own worst enemies. False humility has meant we have not sufficiently celebrated what Grace has done in and through us in regards to poverty and the world's poor.

None of this excuses us from the direct challenges in today's Gospel. We all know how seductive money is and how quickly greed can throw our moral and spiritual compasses off course. In moral theology, however, intention is critical and even money, seductive as it is, can be, and is, put to good service in Christ's kingdom. It's always a question of where the heart is.

By not publicly acknowledging the service done in our name and with our assistance, we do the Church and ourselves an injustice. When we fail to explain the number of times and places Christians clearly put Jesus ahead of money we allow the Church's critics to have the last word, as though it was the only word on the subject.

May this Eucharist, this meal of Christ's poor, assist us to be detached from anything that masters our deepest desires away from Christ and keeps us from serving his kingdom of justice, development

GOD IS ON THE SIDE OF THE POOR

Two of today's readings make it quite clear that God is on the side of the poor. Amos describes in detail the exploitation of the poor and needy. The psalm repeats that God acts to benefit the poor and lowly. But Luke turns things upside down, telling a tale of a conflicted steward, about to be fired, who demonstrates his cleverness and is rewarded. Like the community to whom Paul writes in Timothy, these readings are personal, directed to believers, members of the Jewish and Christian communities, who struggle to deal with personal choices about how to conduct their lives. They offer an outline for how God wishes us to live in a world as complicated and as confusing as our own.
