ward in all these areas. Don’t forget to bring your Commitment Card to Mass on Commitment Sunday October 28/29!

Are you taking steps to improve your spiritual life and further serve in parish ministries? Do you come to parish-wide events? Do you participate in special presentations on aspects of their ministry, be given an update on the affairs of the Archdiocese and share in liturgies, meals and fellowship with their confreres. Since all the priests will be away, some parishes will have communion services In lieu of Mass or will have NO mass at all during these Convocation days. At Holy Name we were fortunate enough to have priests from our neighboring Jesuit community to say Masses for us. Although not all of our daily Masses are covered but at least we still have Mass everyday. We will still have the regular two masses on Monday and Tuesday. Schedule of masses will be Wednesday, October 25th is at 7:30AM, Thursday, 9:00AM and Friday, 7:30AM. Schedule of Communion Services led by Sr. Cristina will be Wednesday, 9AM, Thursday, 7:30AM and Friday, 9AM. Please be guided accordingly.

Several priests of various orders were celebrating a liturgy during a retreat. There were Franciscans, Benedictines, Dominicans, Carmelites and Jesuits. Suddenly the lights of the retreat house dimmed and went out.

The Franciscan burst into a song praising God for the darkness.

The Benedictines continued the prayers from memory, without missing a beat.

The Dominicans began to discuss light as a signification of the transmission of divine knowledge.

The Carmelites fell into silence and started to practice slow steady breathing.

The Jesuits sent one of their guys into the basement to replace the fuse.

Indeed, thanks to our brother Jesuit priests for providing us the light in our parish while we are away.

Our purpose on earth is not to get lost in the dark, but to be a beacon of light to others.

Shine on, many may find the way through us.

FAZtor’s Notes
By Fr. Arnold Zamora

Next Sunday is Commitment Sunday. This weekend, we will hear from a parishioner who will share what stewardship has meant in his or her life. Reflect on how you are involved at Holy Name of Jesus … Do you serve in parish ministries? Do you come to parish-wide events?

Please pray for all the priests in our Archdiocese of Sanlomar, Pacific Grove from Tuesday, October 24th to Friday, October 27th. During the four day Convocation, priests will have the opportunity to discuss mutual pastoral concerns, participate in special presentations on aspects of their ministry, be given an update on the affairs of the Archdiocese and share in liturgies, meals and fellowship with their confreres. Since all the priests will be away, some parishes will have communion services In lieu of Mass or will have NO mass at all during these Convocation days. Message of Pope Francis for World Mission Sunday 2017; “Mission at the Hear of the Christian Faith”

"Once again this year, World Mission Day (October 22nd), gathers us around the person of Jesus, “the very first and greatest evangelizer” (Pope Paul VI, Evangelii Nuntiando,7), who continually send us forth to proclaim the Gospel of the love of God the Father in the power of the Holy Spirit. This day invites us to reflect anew on the mission at the heart of the Christian faith. The Church is missionary by nature; otherwise, she would no longer be the Church of Christ.”

Pope Francis develops the following topics in this same message: Mission and the transformative power of the Gospel of Christ, the Way, the Truth and the Life Mission and the Kairos of Christ Mission inspires a spirituality of constant exodus, pilgrimage, and exile Young people, the hope of mission The service of the Pontifical Mission Societies Carrying out our mission with Mary, Mother of Evangelization If you are interested to read the message in its entirety, please log on to www.Vatican.org/Libreria Editrice Vaticana

TWENTY-NINTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME  10.22.2017

There are people inside and outside the Church who think that Christ did not give the Church a mandate to speak about political matters. They regularly quote the Gospel we have just heard to support their case. But if one knows and understands the context and meaning within which this text was written it provides no ammunition for those who want the Church to stay indoors, reflect on things “spiritual,” preach the eternal verities, and sing hymns more ancient than modern.

In Jesus’ day, we know that some people thought he was a Zealot. Zealots were a well-organized group who agitated for the end of the Roman occupation of Israel. One of the things Zealots did was withhold paying the Roman taxes. We can see why some people thought Jesus may have been a Zealot. He took the part of the poor, the sick, women, and those who lived on the fringes of society. He attacked the religious authorities of his day and certainly stirred up trouble in many places he went. On the other hand he rejected violence, taught his followers to pray for their enemies and to return good for evil. Jesus showed us that the justice and equality God longs to see in the world comes from a community which is converted by love, not by weapons, fear or revenge. Jesus was no Zealot.

Rather than undermine civil authority, however, Jesus, in this passage, supports it. But he does more. "Give to Caesar what is Caesar's" is followed by "And give to God, what is God's," which encompasses all the Caesars of this world, all civil authorities and states. The sense that we as the People of God can split off our obligations to the Gospel from the State is as false as it’s dangerous.

We only have to think of some of the darkest chapters last century to see what happens when good, church-going people, like us, do not put their Sunday devotion in touch with their Monday politics. Evil can reign.

Christian leaders, who are charged to proclaim and defend the Gospel, are obliged to use whatever forum necessary to declare that God’s personal love encompasses everyone and everything under heaven. As the prophet Isaiah reminds us today, God calls each one of us by name.

At times we may not agree with our religious leaders; we may think them ill informed; we may even think they have overstepped the mark. If this is the case we should tell them, enable them to consider other perspectives and to broaden the basis upon which they make their judgments. But we should never be seduced by those who want the Church sidelined from the mainstream of the debates that shape the way we live, the values we share, the laws we draft and the priorities we draw up for our human community.

If the Church shows disinterest in any of this, it is untrue to the very things for which Jesus lived, died and was raised from the dead. By all means we should give to Caesar all that Caesar is justly entitled to have for the sake of the common good. A higher allegiance, however, goes to God, who will call all Caesars to account for what they have done and what they failed to do. And we might be asked to explain how we let them get away with it in the first place.

POWER STRUGGLE
Power struggles occur on every level of society, from the world stage to relationships at work, to our own homes. We struggle for position in the hierarchy of power: Who has power over whom? How do they wield it? What is the source of that power? What is the healthy response?

In this Sunday’s Gospel reading the Pharisees engage Jesus in a power struggle over whether Jews should show tribute to Caesar by paying taxes. Jesus’ response puts this and every struggle for power into perspective. In harmony with the words of Isaiah and Paul, Jesus teaches us that God is the ultimate source of all power—the power of earthly rulers, the Pharisees, Jesus, the Church, and the power within ourselves.
