Father's Column

Instead of my usual reflection, I'm reprinting here an important communication from the Chancery calling on the Lay Leaders of our parish to take active role in campaigning to defeat Proposition 1:

"The Archdiocese of San Francisco is working closely with the California Catholic Conference (https://cacatholic.org) to mobilize our parishes to defeat Proposition 1 which is before voters on the November ballot. Proposition 1, if approved by voters, would be a state constitutional amendment which will go beyond Roe v. Wade in legalizing abortion. The California legislature in June passed this proposition but it must be approved by the voters in the November election to become law. This proposed state constitutional amendment would make unconstitutional any restriction of abortion in the state of California. For instance, if it becomes a part of the state constitution, Proposition 1 would mean that a law that prohibited abortion after 20 weeks (when there is a strong chance the baby could live if delivered early) would be illegal under the California constitution. Any future law which would require parental notification for a minor to receive an abortion would be unconstitutional if Proposition 1 becomes part of the state of California constitution.

Archbishop Salvatore J. Cordileone is a member of a California Catholic Conference advisory committee that will be working on the messaging to bring the Gospel of hope and life in opposition to Proposition 1. He is asking you to join him in actively supporting this important effort.

There will be a virtual training for parish lay leaders on Thursday, August 11 at 7:30pm. The chosen parish leaders would then serve as a parish captain and be responsible for parish activities around this campaign. Training will last an hour and a half and will have simultaneously interpretation into Spanish."

In this connection, I'm calling our lay leaders to organize themselves, attend the required virtual training and plan events and activities around this campaign.

To register in this virtual meeting and for other details, please contact me or Ms. Rachel Leluc, raleluc@holynamesf.org, our Parish Manager.
